

Alzheimer's Association® Support Groups

Support groups create a safe, confidential, supportive environment or community and a chance for participants to develop informal mutual support and social relationships. They also educate and inform participants about dementia and help participants develop methods and skills to solve problems.

Alzheimer's Association Caregiver Support Groups

Alzheimer's Association caregiver support groups are conducted by trained facilitators and are a safe place for caregivers, family and friends of persons with dementia. These groups help caregivers develop a support system, allow members to exchange practical information on caregiving challenges and possible solutions, and talk through issues and ways of coping, as well as share feelings, needs and concerns. They are also a place to learn about outside community resources.

See attached pages for a complete listing of our caregiver support group in Coos, Curry, Josephine, Jackson and Klamath counties.

Telephone Caregiver Support Group

Alzheimer's Association telephone support groups provide emotional, educational and social support for caregivers through regularly scheduled meetings. Held via telephone/conference call to accommodate individuals living in remote areas or who are unable to travel to a meeting site, these groups operate similarly to in-person caregiver support groups. To register, please call 800-272-3900.

Telephone Caregiver Support Group is held on the third Thursday of the month from 1 to 2:00 p.m.

Alzheimer's Association Early-Stage Support Groups

Early-stage support groups provide emotional, educational and social support for people in the early stages (or beginning stages) of Alzheimer's disease or dementia, irrespective of age. Care partners are strongly encouraged to attend as well. Screening and registration are required for all potential early-stage support group participants. To register, please call 800-272-3900.

See attached pages for a complete listing of our caregiver support group in Coos, Curry, Josephine, Jackson and Klamath counties.
